

DownTime Available Today for iPhone and iPod touch on the iTunes App Store

GOTHENBURG--September 2, 2008--Lingon i Korg Software Creations today announced that the company's first application for the iPhone and iPod touch mobile platforms is released on Apple's iTunes App Store.

"DownTime is simply a pretty huge timer, which comes in handy more often than you might think," said Oskar Lissheim-Boethius, Founder and CEO of Lingon i Korg Software Creations and OLB Productions.

Nifty features include:

- The timer countdown continues while you temporarily switch to another application. (The alarm will not start unless DownTime is open, however.)
- Choose between several different color schemes.
- Access your 10 previous timers.
- See a visible flashing alert (and vibration on the iPhone) when the timer runs out. Optionally, turn on the alarm sound to get an audible alert a well.

Pricing & Availability: DownTime is available worldwide as of today in the iTunes App Store, completely free of charge.
